SILVERTON MURAL TOUR

1 Silver Falls Timber Company
Highway 214 near Jefferson Street
Silver Falls Timber Co. built one of the largest sawmills in Oregon in 1916 for more than $400,000.

2 Four Freedoms 990 N. First St.
A replica of the work done by artist Norman Rockwell in 1943 in The Saturday Evening Post Magazine – the mural represents the core values of the Silverton residents – Freedom of Speech, Freedom of Worship, Freedom from Want and Freedom from Fear.

3 Orville Roth 918 N. First St.
Portrait of Roth's Fresh Markets founder on the exterior of his first store.

4 The Mammoth – Largest Camera in the World 441 N. Water St.
The Mammoth, the largest camera in the United States, was created around 1900 in Chicago.

5 Norma Jean – Silverton's Sweetheart
1301 N. Water St.
A portrait of long-time florist Norma Jean Branstetter.

6 Don Pettit – The Sky is Not the Limit
Water Street at High
Silverton-born astronaut Don Pettit served six months as a mission specialist aboard the International Space Station.

7 Davenport's Arabian Quest
Water Street side of Wolf Building
Famed cartoonist Homer Davenport traveled to Arabia and returned with 27 pure desert-bred Arabian horses in 1906, the first to be bred in America.

8 The Veteran 209 E. Main St.
A tribute to our veterans – with long-time mural advocate Vince Till as model.

9 The Old Oak Tree
213 E. Main St.
The town was built around the old oak tree – a popular gathering spot on Main Street in the 1800s. Newcomers cut down the 800-year-old tree to pave the street. The stump is on display at the Silverton Country Museum.

10 City of Falls
Main Street Bridge
Silverton photographer June Drake helped spear-head the effort to preserve the more than 8,000 acres with 10 waterfalls that today is Silver Falls State Park.

11 The Town That Still Believes
Main Street in Town Square Park
Santa Claus' glittering magic lights the town Christmas tree each year.

12 Adventures of Bobbie
S. Water Street at Lewis St.
A Scotch Collie, Bobbie was traveling with the Braziers of Silverton in Wolcott, Indiana on Aug. 15, 1923 when he became separated from the family. He walked home, returning to Silverton on Feb. 15, 1924.

13 Gallon House Bridge
Corner of Lewis and South Water streets
Built in 1916, the 84-foot Gallon House Bridge is the only covered bridge in Marion County you can still drive through. During Prohibition, the bridge earned its name as the place to get a gallon of moonshine or steal a kiss.

14 Keith Kaser
Lewis and Second Streets
For years the retired mechanic was a frequent sight walking through downtown, commenting on the weather to passersby.

15 Homer Davenport 205 S. First St.
The work of world-renowned political cartoonist Homer Davenport helped elect presidents and expose business corruption. He was born in 1867 outside of Silverton and is the author of The Country Boy.

16 Silverton Airport
First and High streets
The Silverton Airport was the oldest licensed airport in Oregon. The mural features aviation pioneer Bessie Haladay.

17 Harvey Mikkelson's Steam Engine Festival
First and High Streets
From 1954 to 1966, Harvey Mikkelson showcased a "steam-up" just outside of Silverton in Bethany. The festival moved to Brooks, but the memory lives on.

18 Paws for Love 306 Oak St.
Salutes the Silver Falls Library's therapy dog program and encourages reading and a love of learning.

19 Silverton Pet Parade 600 First St.
A Silverton tradition for more than 80 years, the Silverton Pet Parade – always the third Saturday in May – celebrates the town's winged, tailed, scaled and four legged friends. Children, adults and pets stroll through downtown as spectators cheer them on.

20 9/11 Memorial 500 West C St.
Also a memorial to all American wars.

21 Silverton Red Sox
C Street near James Street
From 1937 to 1954, the Silverton Red Sox (a farm team for the Boston Red Sox) was mostly made up of local men who worked at the Silver Falls Timber Co. and managed by Bill McGinnis. Major league player Johnny Pesky played one summer in Silverton.

22 Our Twentieth Century
C Street near James Street
Quotes and icons tell the story of the 20th Century including "Ask Not What Your Country Can Do for You" and "One Small Step For Man."

23 Silverton Healthcare History
Backside of Rite Aid on C Street
Learn about the various locations of Silverton Hospital.

24 Doug Brown – Champion Cowboy
C Street and Silverton Rd.
Doug Brown's ride on Jambalaya is captured in this mural. He was World Champion Bull Rider in 1969.

25 The Oregon Trail 1787 Pine St.
The Boyington family is pictured along the Oregon Trail in the foothills of the Rockies.
